Steve I'm really glad you came to Parker this year and I got to know
you. You're so sweet and different from everyone else
I know. This school is really the pits, the teachers the people everything. Next year I'm leaving finally after six years, and so are you - your summer than I was. Well maybe this summer if we could get together and do something. If not were going to at least keep in touch. Hope life treats you well.
Love Anna

Dear Steve,
I'm really glad I
met you this year
cause your a real cool
guy! I hope we can all get together during the summer and do
some heavy partyin!
Have fun in K.A. and drink a few beers for me!

Love
Lisa

P.S. Party hearty

Steve,

Steve,
I'm glad that you
came to Parker, things
wouldn't be the same without you. This year was fun in Biology, & history.
You totally creaked me up! You have a personality all your own (thank god, I couldn't handle
two of you!) < HA HA which makes you special. Thank for listening to me talk & talk about all of my problems & weird things that I do. You take care of yourself
this summer, sometimes you really have
me worried!
Maybe I'll see ya this summer on the beach
or in the Cays in your speedo suit.
(HA HA)

Love
always

To a Dedicated Couple: Mr. & Mrs. G.

She was born in Concepcion, Chile. During her early years, she and her family moved to Ontario, California, where she attended St. George's Elementary School. Her high school years were spent at Pomona Catholic High School, in Pomona. She attended the University of San Diego. Besides belonging to the Italian Club, she was yelling her heart out as a cheerleader during her sophomore year. She graduated with majors in English and Linguistics.

He was born and raised in Tulare, California. Always an athlete, he was a four year letterman in football, baseball, and basketball while in high school. After attending Sequoia Junior College, he transferred to the University of San Diego. In 1968, he graduated with a B.A. degree in History. He received his teaching degree the following year. With two years of experience from Marian High School under his belt, he came to Parker in 1970.

They met at the USD bookstore in 1966, where he worked. His boss acted as a matchmaker by introducing them. On November 23, 1966, they were married at St. George's Catholic Church in Ontario, California.

Lisa Maria was born in 1969 and Christa Maria, in 1972. Both daughters attend Parker Lower School.

They are truly part of Francis Parker because they live on campus and are active in all student body activities.

Mary Jo is the organizer of the Lingua Faire every spring, and shows a lot of patience in her Latin and sewing classes. In the past, she conducted unforgettable Roman Republic classes.

Tony is a tough and caring football coach, and an understanding seventh grade science teacher. Both are good friends of students and faculty alike.

It's with great pride we dedicate the 1980 CAVALCADE to a COUPLE of super people: Mary Jo and Tony Ghironi.

Footsteps Through the Sands . . .

We have reached the uncanny eighties, that sci-fi writers have turned into an era of nuclear wars, extreme air pollution, and energy crunches. Although these fears are beginning to materialize in the "Iranian Crisis," smog alerts, and power-outages, it is easy to escape from them for at least a moment, in San Diego. Who could worry with that beautiful Pacific Coast practically on the front door step?

Besides offering various recreational activities, the beach reflects individual personalities. Have you ever noticed footsteps in the sand? Some people walk along the sand totally independent, leaving their prints in a scattered, but definite pattern. Then, there are the people who follow along, by walking down the beach placing their feet in previously made prints. Constantly in life, people are faced with the decision of whether to lead or follow.

Coming from San Diego and attending Francis Parker, graduates can face life as strong participants in a challenging world, whether they choose to be leaders or followers.

Fans Pack Stands At Homecoming '79

The stands were packed on Homecoming '79, as Pam Guiles was crowned Queen with escort Steve Carey. Court members were Anne Pavel, Katie Seiber, Jeff Adler and Craig Irving.

Campus atmosphere altered as students dressed up for "Be a Kid Day," "Secret Ambition Day," "60's Day," "Punk Rock Day," and "Brown and Gold Day."

The Lancers did not disappoint their many spectators. Parker trounced Southland Christian 36-0.

The Homecoming Dance at the Lower School that night featured "The Snails."

Sr. High ASB Gets Back To Basics

The senior high student council became organized by conforming to rules set down by their constitution, and by using parliamentary procedures in their meetings.

Fall semester began under the leadership of Karen Hirr, president; Lisa Mumby, vice president; Jim Ilko, treasurer; and Susan McKig, commissioner of publicity. Mr. Volker became the new adviser, being able to devote more time than Dr. Crone could work in.

First item on the agenda was a special election for the office of secretary, as Tiffany Kemp did not return to Parker. Sandy Iverson was elected.

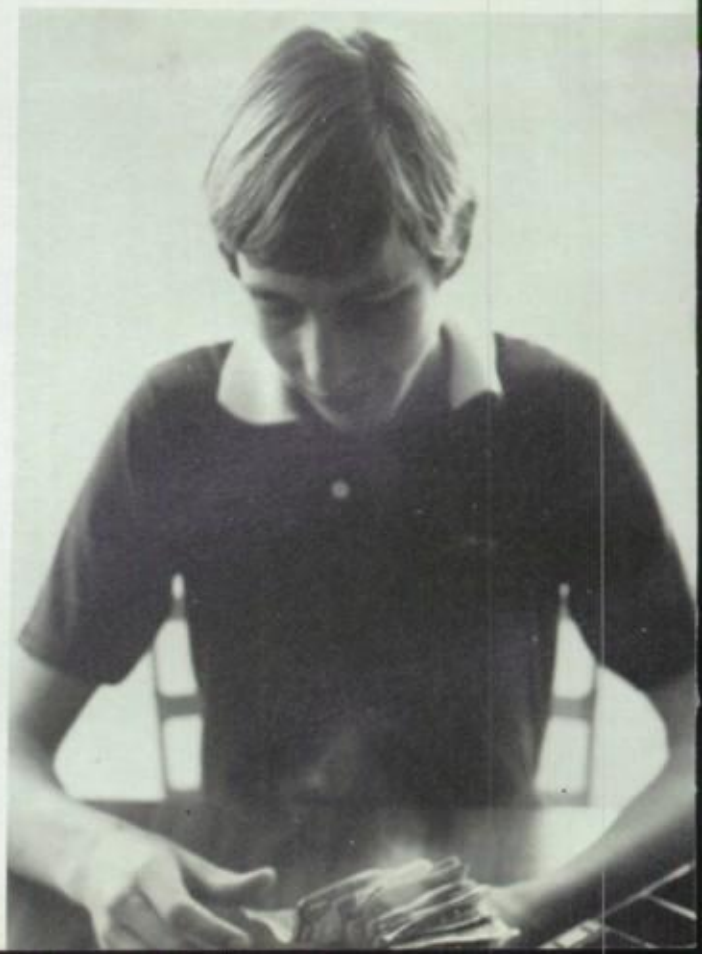

The council was in charge of many enjoyable activities, such as the Homecoming and Winter Dances, plus a winter newspaper drive.

A new government came into power in February. Members of that board were: John Otterson, president; Sean Rogan, vice president; Tom Gildred, treasurer; Lee Rhein, secretary; and Anne Pavel, commissioner of publicity. There was a two week interim during which the new board members worked with the old to make an easy transition.

7-8 Government Is In The Green

Planning and financing half of the games nights for the Junior High School was the major function of the Student Council. This year, roller and ice skating, golf and dancing provided much enjoyment for those who attended.

The magazine sales, late in March, added enough to the treasury so the Council once again was able to sponsor the Junior High trip to Knotts' Berry Farm.

They were also proud of the fact that they were able to provide the school with needed instructional aides as their year end donation.

Members of the '79-'80 executive board were: Jenny Iverson, president; Amy Smith, vice president; Danielle Kaplan, secretary/treasurer; Julie Jenkins, Jamie Berg, and Monique Soares, 8th reps; and, J.P. Leasure, Darren Fulhurst, and Chad Vosskuhler, 7th reps.

Girls' League Adds Flair To Projects

The Senior High Girls' League co-operated well and brought together creative ideas for a successful year.

As in the past, they decorated the Lower School auditorium for the Homecoming Dance; prepared Christmas gift baskets for the needy; sold carnations on Carnation Day; and sold candy after school. In addition, new fund raisers and activities proved profitable. Among them were a cheese and sausage sale and a spirit button sale. They sponsored the Annual Sadie Hawkins Dance off-campus this year.

The 1979-80 board members were: Susan McKig, president; Lee Rhein, vice president; Dena Murray, secretary; Allison Gordon, treasurer. Class reps were Teresa Pesqueira, senior; Marilou Quini, junior; Elizabeth Reid, sophomore; and Janet Hughes, freshman.

Jr. High Girls Reach Goals

With their main goal in mind, service to the school and community, the Junior High Girls' League planned many projects and activities. Their major fundraising event, stationery sales, made it possible to re-furnish the nurse's office as well as make donations in other needed areas of school.

Games Nights were a regular part of their program. Over 100 7th and 8th graders attended these popular monthly activities. Parker was not the only recipient of Girls' League services; the Red Cross welcomed their help in packing boxes of emergency supplies for disaster areas.

The 1979-80 board members were: Karen Halverstadt, president; Cindy Driscoll, vice president; Kastle DeMassa, secretary; Sam Bloom, treasurer; Lori Love, 8th representative; and Allison Pay, 7th representative.

VIEW Promotes Involvement

Boasting an International Second Place Award from the Quill and Scroll Society, THE VIEW began the year optimistically.

The 1979-80 staff was very proud of the school's interest in the paper. The "Letters to the Editor" column met with much success as students and faculty used it to express their opinions.

A "Sports Update" was added to the usual 10 issues. It came out the second semester between regular issues to keep the sports news fresh.

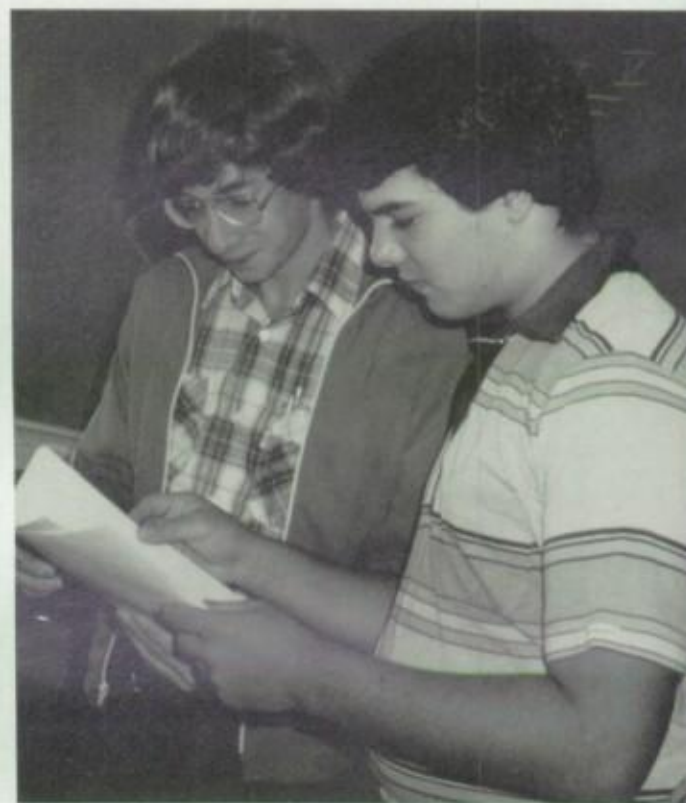

The editors took greater initiative on these papers and therefore had more responsibility in publishing.

The hard work and determination of the Journalism I students provided much spirit for the rest of the staff.

CAVALCADE Reflects FWP

Few students realize how much time and effort go into the perfection of the yearbook. It involves many hours, many of them after school. The staff members have worked very hard to make the 1979-80 CAVALCADE a success.

Some new features of the yearbook include allowing more space for Student Council and Girls' League, since they are becoming stronger forces on campus. In addition seniors have been able to contribute copy for their own section.

SPECTRUM

Shows Variety

Lori Roberts, Allison Gordon, and Viki Salazar were the major forces behind SPECTRUM. Mrs. Patty Barrett was their adviser.

The liberal arts magazine staff put equal emphasis on art work, photography, poetry, and short stories. Input from all grade levels was stressed.

The staff members did everything from editing, typing, and doing paste-ups. Old hands such as Leslie Pearce and Susan McKig helped put on the final touches.

Right: Viki Salazar, Lori Roberts, and Allison Gordon read over material for liberal arts magazine.

Assemblies

Assemblies ran the gamut first semester from drugs to religion. Second semester began with a lecture on the Iranian situation.

A substance abuse program was held during P.E. classes, conducted by Chuck Fuller and Marian Otondo. Later that semester, the Desert Sun School presented GODSPELL.

John Magagna spoke about his experiences as headmaster in a school in Iran.

Scholars Active In Cum Laude

Karen Hirr, James Ilko, Maile Knudsen, Lewis Morgenstern, Leslie Pearce, Lori Roberts, and Tony Ryan were the 1979-80 members of Cum Laude. Under the guidance of president Dave Russell, the group became more active on campus.

A tutorial service was one of their projects. Members tutored students from Parker and from nearby Kit Carson Elementary School.

The chapter continued the speakers' bureau. They met with Dr. Max Lerner at United States International University. At press time they were planning further discussions.

A college handbook was composed by the group. Questionnaires asking specific questions about a student's college life were sent out to Parker alumni, and the results went into a book to be used by juniors and seniors in choosing colleges.

The First Annual Cum Laude Alumni Party was hosted by the present members. Past members, and faculty involved in the Society, attended.

Fund raisers ranging from a pumpkin contest to bake sales were held. Profits went to the annual project of giving a book to the faculty member who had challenged them the most.

'Curtain Call' Includes All

The largest drama class ever—56 students greeted Miss Whitney on the opening day of school. The fall production, "Curtain Call" was well suited to a class of this size. The show had several production numbers in which everyone participated from such shows as "The Sound of Music," "Chorus Line," and "South Pacific." There were also solos displaying individual talents. The show was written largely by the students.

Some of the most memorable acts were "16 Going On 17" a duet by Renate Adloff and Andy Eros; "At The Ballet," by Jennifer Jenkins, Lee Rhein, and Liz Woodle; "Nothing Like A Dame" performed by the men; and "What I Did For Love" by Liz Woodle.

A spoof of "Saturday Night Live" featured Kim Jenkins and Barney Firks as the Weekend Update team and Chris Frye as Rosanne Rosanna Danna.

Drama Family Does 'Fiddler'

At press time the cast for "Fiddler On The Roof" had just been selected. This musical, like the fall production, gave everyone a chance to participate. In addition to its many lead roles, it required a strong chorus.

Parker Goes "Punk"

Several of the '79-80 dances had a distinct "punk rock" flavor. Among those who packed into the library for the fall tape dance were several senior girls dressed as "punk rockers."

The Homecoming dance, at the Lower School featured the punk group The Snails.

The T-Birds played for a record crowd of 150 at the Winter Dance, held at La Jolla Country Club.

Time Changes Games Nights

Games Night, originally designed as an after school get-together involving kickball, volley-tennis, softball and volleyball has changed over the years. The addition of dinner and a dance plus the introduction of bowling, miniature golf, roller skating and ice skating have replaced and expanded the traditional social activity of Parker's Junior High.

The two hour dance has become the prime attraction for most students with the music supplied by a professional disc jockey. Games Nights are still activities enjoyed by everyone.

Electives Offer Fun . . .

"Wang" joined the computer class this year. Wang is an independent screen terminal computer that was acquired at the beginning of the school year. Wang joins the dec writer printer that Parker got five years ago and the Adds Cart view screen from two years ago. Now a total of 25 students are able to take the class.

Students use the computers for art, graphics, and games, in addition to the writing and developing of mathematical programs.

The photographers were not always found in the classroom. They were usually found wandering around the school looking for candid or developing and printing in the dark room. The students took many field trips to places such as the zoo, Wild Animal Park and a processing plant.

The Art Department began the 1979-80 school year with a new look as well as a new instructor.

The curriculum, strong in graphics, started with color and design and ended with silkscreen.

Some of their most successful projects were word animal drawings, cereal boxes, wood cuts, wood reliefs and silkscreen.

And Pride In Results

Typing is a skill important to college prep students. Two seniors realizing the necessity for knowing how to type, joined the eighth grade students this year and made excellent progress. Two ninth grade students took advanced typing and increased their speed.

As in years past, Parker woodshop students expected to bring home more than their share of awards from the model yacht regatta in June. Also, a larger group of advanced students were planning to exhibit their furniture in competition at the Del Mar Fair.

With the increase in the cost of clothing, Mrs. Ghironi's sewing class was practical as well as enjoyable. Sewing students had an opportunity to increase their year-round wardrobe using their own skill in design. Projects ranged from simple skirts and tops to formals and ski wear. The greatest pleasure for the girls was wearing something that was uniquely theirs.

There's Always Time for Fun

Ski Week (February 9-19) is unique to Francis Parker. It was designed to allow families time to take advantage of the perfect skiing conditions found during that time of year. Popular resorts were: Snowmass, Park City and nearby Mammoth. Also some Parker people, preferring the warmer climates, went south for the sunshine.

A relatively new dimension to P.E. was dancing. Square dancing, disco, swing and other "ballroom dancing" was enjoyed. Some faculty dropped by for a turn around the room. Students really enjoyed this unit, since they didn't have to "suit up." It also gave them a chance to interact, without being divided up into teams.

Sports

Varsity Squad Wild, Crazy

The varsity cheerleaders had a "wild and crazy" kind of a season. It began during the summer, when they traveled to Stanford for cheerleading camp. There, they won the prized "Stuart" spirit stick for one of the most united and energetic squads.

They all became closer during Spirit Week. They spent many hours together, practicing cheers, and even stayed on campus until 10 p.m., decorating the school the night before the Homecoming game.

All their work and time spent together that week was highlighted by a Pep Rally for Parker's most spirited and rowdy group ever.

Their energy and enthusiasm continued throughout the basketball season and the rest of the year.

JV Give Lusty Cheers

The JV cheerleaders, Stacy, Nel, Lisa, Renate, Laura and Elizabeth, were full of enthusiasm for the 1979-1980 season. All but one of the cheerleaders were new to the squad, and therefore had to start from scratch, learning cheers and formations.

They cheered lustily for the football games, up to the grand finale, a triumphant Homecoming game. They were up front for the JV basketball team, using new cheers, as well as old favorites.

The cheerleaders were proud to represent the dynamite JV basketball team and enjoyed every minute of the season.

Varsity Girls Make Playoffs

The Varsity volleyball team was comprised of three seniors, three juniors and four sophomores. The girls and Coach Mark Albers started their season with scrimmage games.

They lost only two league games qualifying for the CIF playoffs, where they met La Jolla Country Day. They lost the play-offs and came in second in the league.

Award winners for the '79 season were Katie Seiber, Team Captain; Anne Pavel, Most Inspirational; Elizabeth Reid, Most Improved; and Pam Guiles, Most Valuable Player.

JV Team Wins Big

The JV volleyball team of '79 had a great time making it all the way to first place. Their coach, Miss Meier, had a hard time at first molding the team, but by the end of the season, everyone knew what to do.

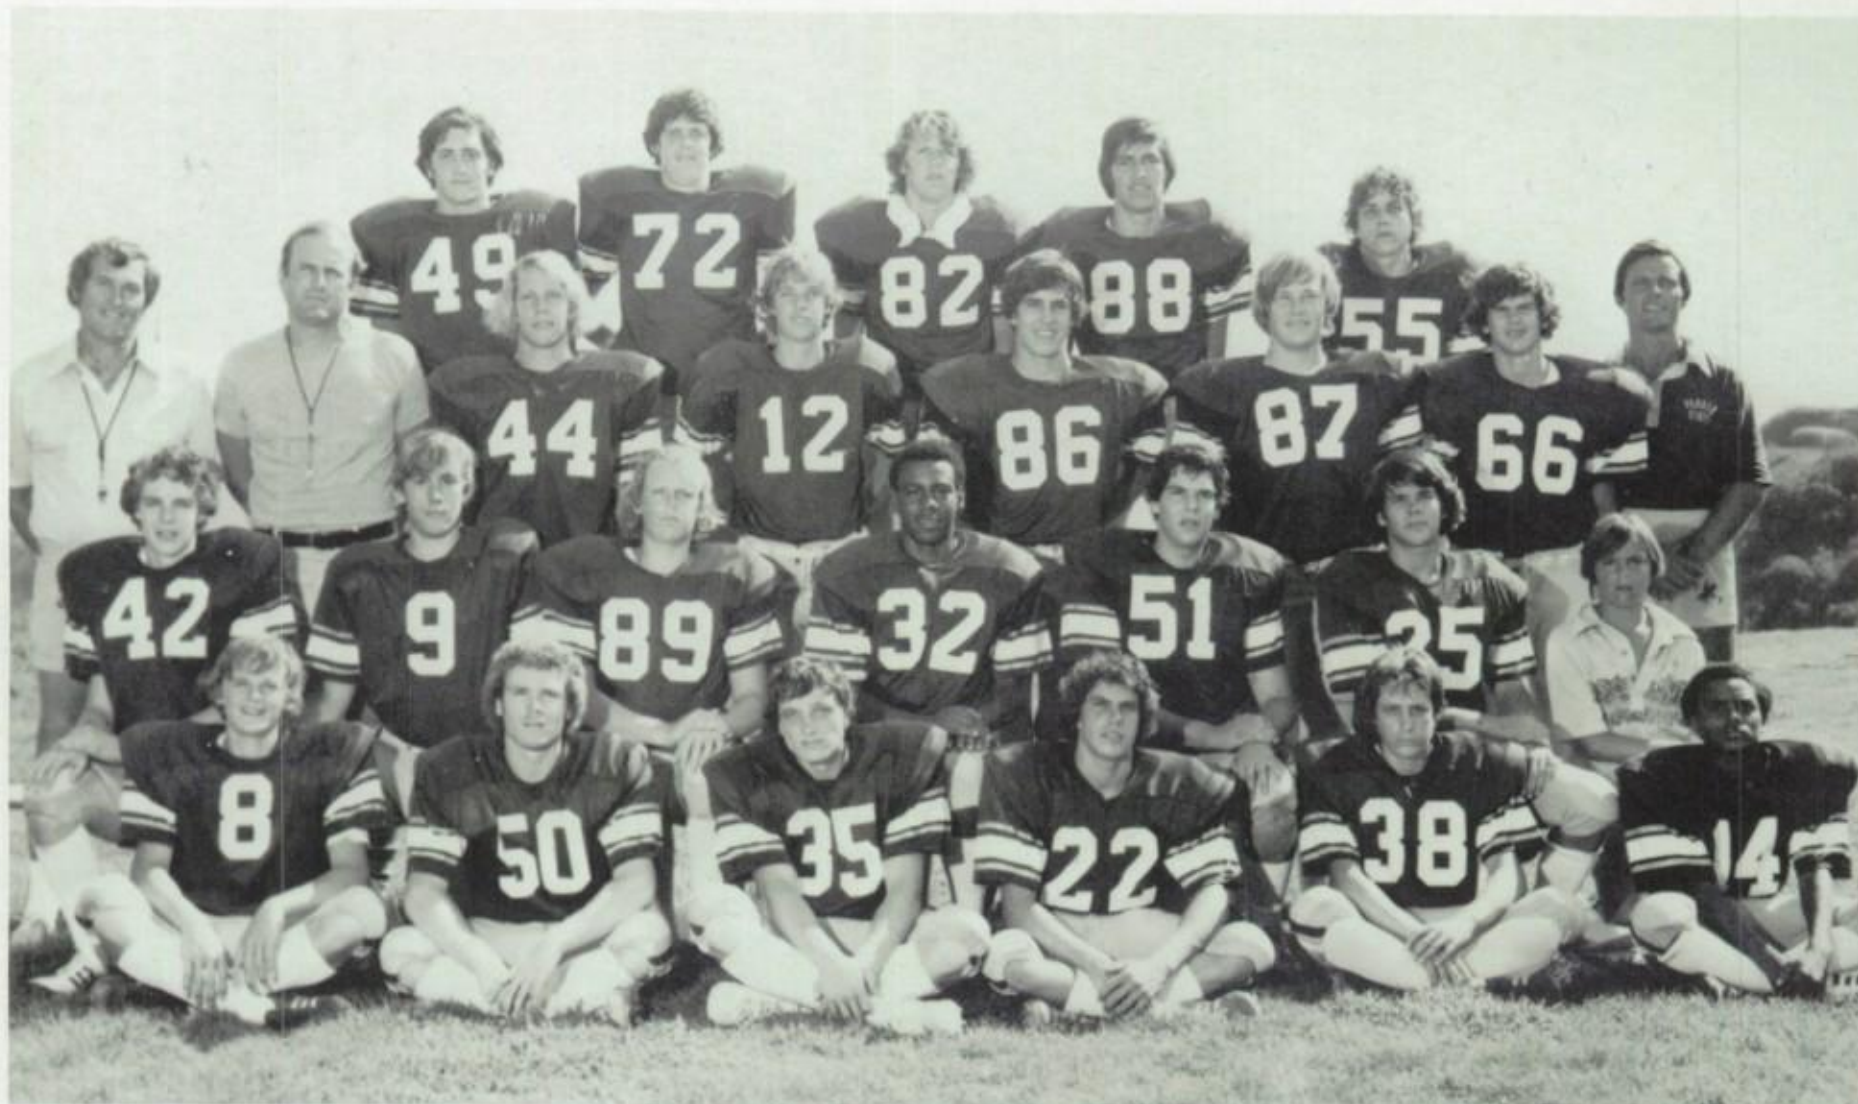

Although the girls started out slowly in the pre-season games, they lost only one league game. In addition to learning and playing volleyball, the JV also enjoyed a few outside activities, such as going to Farrells, and having a beach party.

Awards were given to Marites Quini and Kristine Choconas for Most Improved; Laura Russell for Most Enthusiastic; and Captain Sue Rutherford for Most Valuable Player.

Football '79—Revival Time

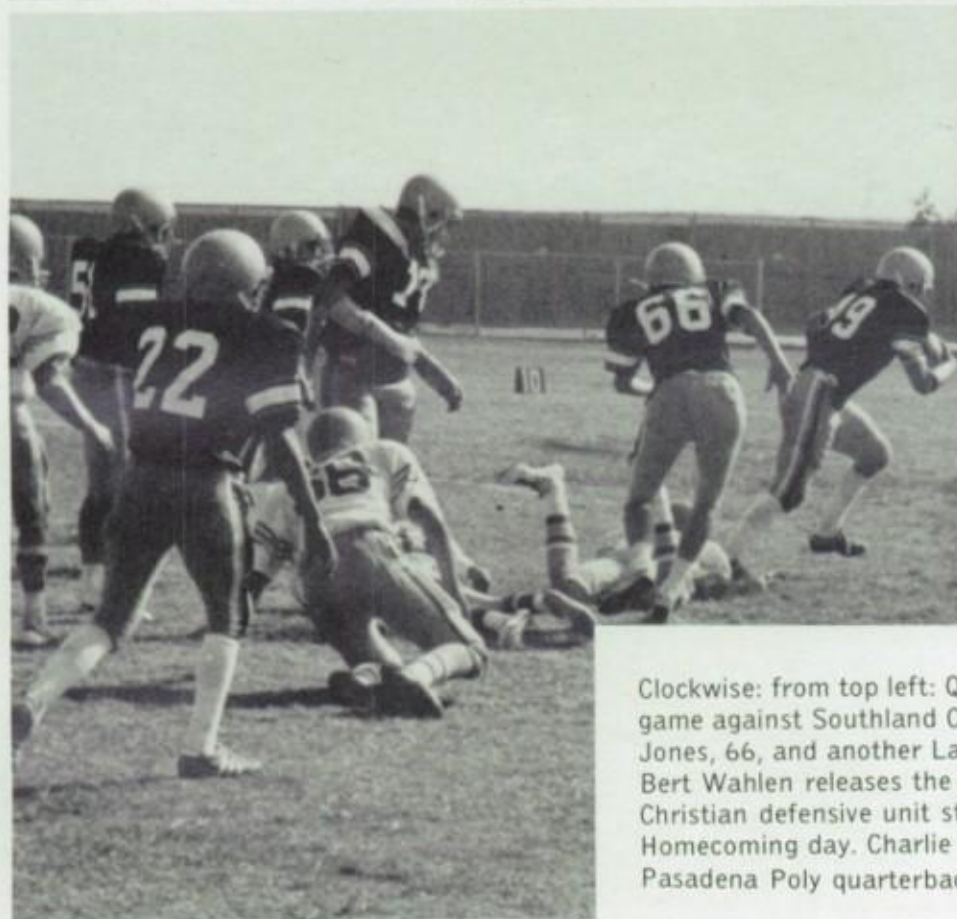

Parker football revived, turning last year's 1-7 record into 6-1. The Lancers met teams such as Pasadena Poly, Maranantha, Southland Christian, Newport Christian and Escondido Christian. Masada handed the Lancers their only defeat.

The 1979 football squad played only junior varsity. This was due to a small player turn-out. What they lost in quantity, however, they made up for in quality. Their record proves it.

Team captains were Bill Helwig, Ken Dewart and Mark Clifton. Unfortunately, Bill suffered an injury in the first game, sidelining him for the rest of the season.

Sean Rogan, in his rookie year, rushed for 491 yards and 14 touchdowns, to earn the Best Offensive Player award. Ted Davis was dubbed Best Defensive Player, making 59 tackles. He led the Lancers in that category.

Most improved was John Danis, who in his first complete season darted for 348 yards and seven touchdowns. Ken Dewart received the Most Valuable Player trophy, for his efforts on both defense and offense. In addition to his excellent performance at guard, Ken made 57 tackles from his linebacking position.

Clockwise: from top left: Quarterback Bill Helwig readies to take the snap from center in the first game against Southland Christian. Keith Sampson dashes by two Pasadena Poly defenders. Kent Jones, 66, and another Lancer force a Pasadena Poly running back out of bounds. Quarterback Bert Wahlen releases the ball under pressure during the Homecoming game. The Southland Christian defensive unit stares into the dirt, as Ken Dewart, 49, darts for a long gainer, on Homecoming day. Charlie Williams, Ted Davis, and Chris Zucconi apply pressure to the opposing Pasadena Poly quarterback. Center: Dan Sulzer kicks off.

New Coach Livens Soccer

Playing in a tough league against more experienced teams, the Parker soccer team had a record season in their third year, scoring five goals and tying a game with Christian High.

The team's new coach, Thomas Hattori, transformed average soccer players into an organized unit.

David Nerhood was the leading scorer despite an injury which caused him to sit out the second half of the season. Forwards Drew Williams, Ed Gotfredson and Joel Smith showed consistent effort, both scoring a goal apiece.

Halfbacks Eric Rosado, Rob Ilko and Andy Eros shone as ball handlers. Fullbacks Tony Ryan, Richard Marsch, and David McLean did a solid job on defense. Goalkeeper Mark Clifton used diving saves to prevent many goal attempts.

Most Valuable Player was goalie Mark Clifton; David McLean was selected as Most Improved. Viki Salazar received Most Spirited.

Cross Country Joins Scene

Parker's newest addition to the sports spectrum, cross country running, proved to be popular and successful. With a team of more than twenty members, Parker defeated tough, experienced opposition. The boys' team walked away with a 5-2 record, and the girls' team with a 4-1 season.

Steve Vafis, boys' number one runner, invariably placed second or third overall, keeping close to a five minute per mile pace throughout the grueling three-mile courses. Tom Gildred also proved to be invaluable.

Janet Hughes, the girls' fastest, most durable runner, was the only team member to make it to the CIF Cross Country Finals. Anna Palmer and Viki Salazar proved instrumental in determining race outcomes. Viki was given the MVP award at the end of the season.

Cagers Please Crowds Through Tough Season

The Lancers of 79-80 were definitely "crowd pleasers." Coach Dave Glassey commented, "They just would not make it easy for themselves." Their overall record was 13-11-0 and their record in Southern League play was 5-4-0.

They started strong capturing the Southern League title by beating Cal Lutheran 69-7, Mountain Empire 36-31, and Army-Navy 41-30.

The cagers were stronger at home (11-1), than away (2-10). This was evident when in their last regular season game they were beaten by Army-Navy at the academy, forcing them into a tie-breaker for second place with LJCD at USD. They outplayed LJCD 44-43. They went on to take care of Julian 55-49 at Orange Glen High.

This put them into the Sports Arena to meet Southern League rivals Army-Navy. A poor showing at the Arena put the Lancers on the short end of a 30-27 score, placing them in second place of the CIF 1A division.

The average points per game for the Lancer squad was 44.3 while their opponents tallied 43.2 per game.

George Smith was high scorer with 10.7 points per game average.

Ken Dewart ran off with the Most Valuable Player trophy. Craig Irving took Most Improved, and Ted Davis was selected as Defense Player of the Year.

Plagued JV Does O.K.

The JV basketball team began the season with a new coach and almost a new team with only three returning and nine first year players.

New Coach Ed Helscher took this inexperienced team and developed it into a constantly improving team.

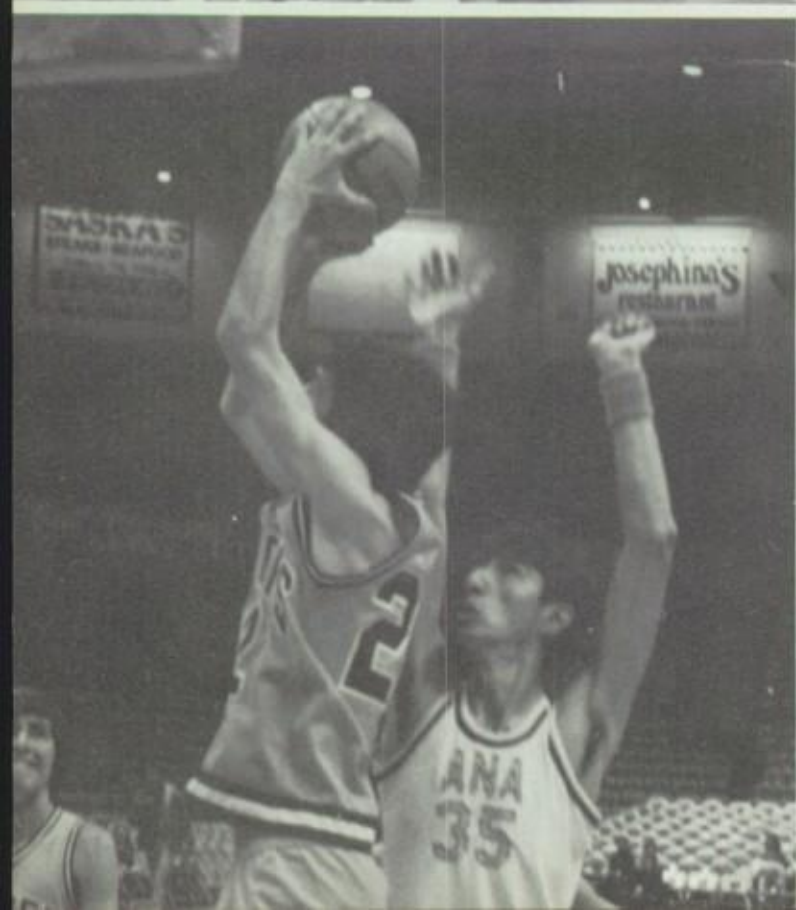

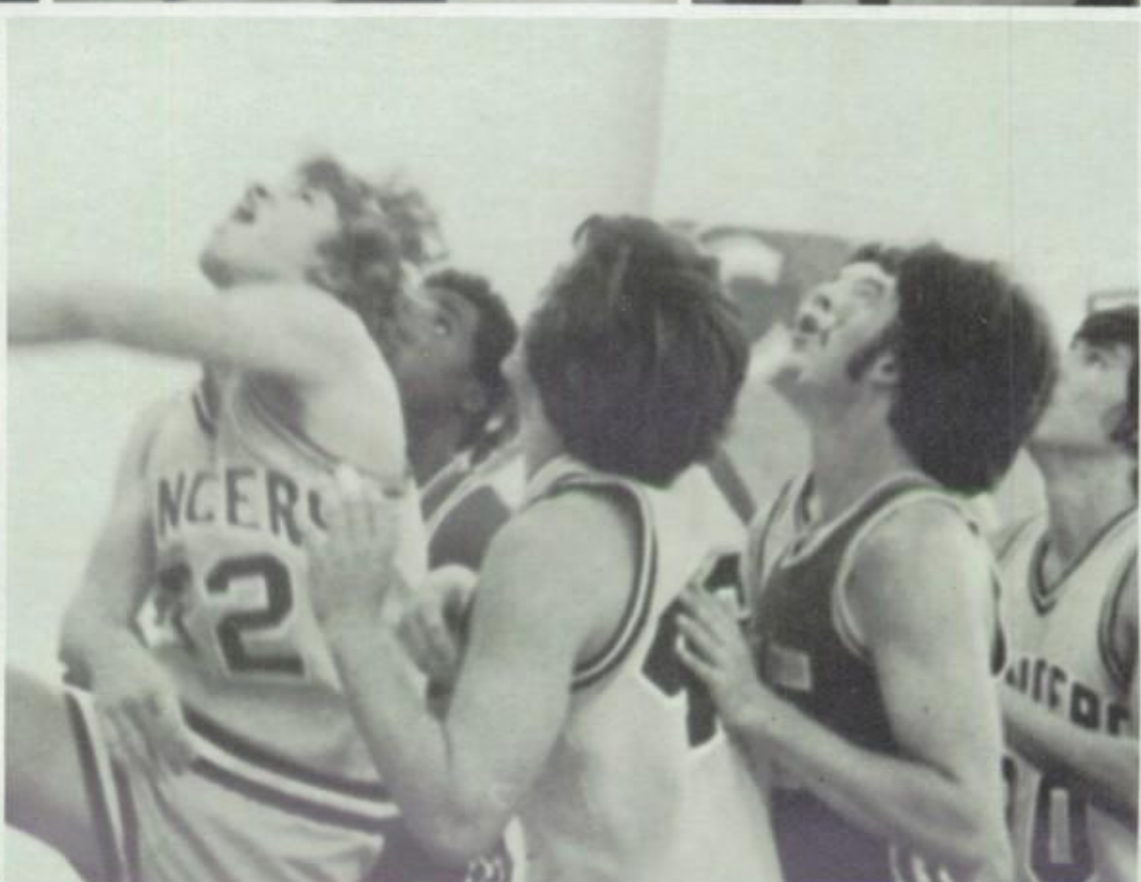

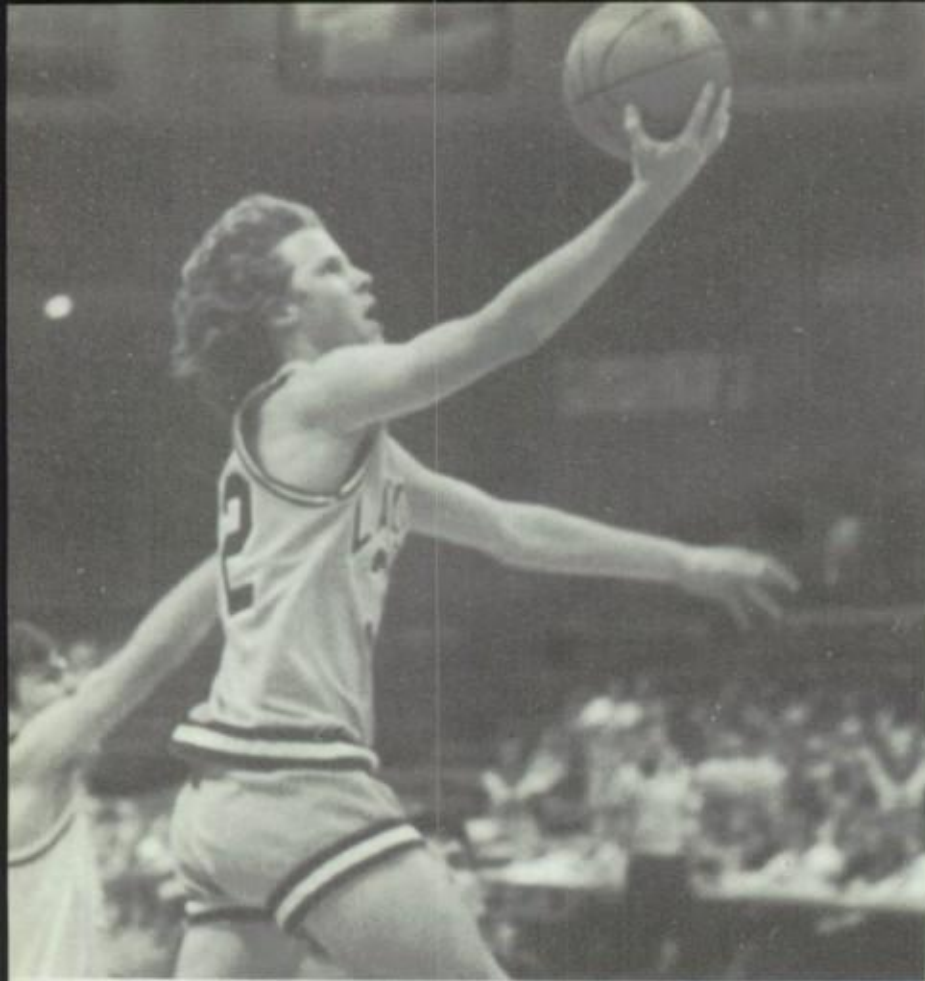

Along with the inexperience, the team was beset by injuries and sickness especially among the starters which led to an overall 7-11 season, including a 2-7 league record. When the team was "whole" they were able to pull off surprising victories against Christian, Chadwick, and League winner Santa Fe Christian.

Offensively, the team was led by consistent performers Mike Seiber, Jim Rogan, and Steve Harris. The defense was keyed by Kent Jones, Victor Pesqueira, and Stewart Bieler.

Parker Has Tennis Power

Wally Everett, new addition to the coaching staff, took command of the varsity tennis team in the spring. Parker, a perennial tennis power in the Southern League, was expected to do well.

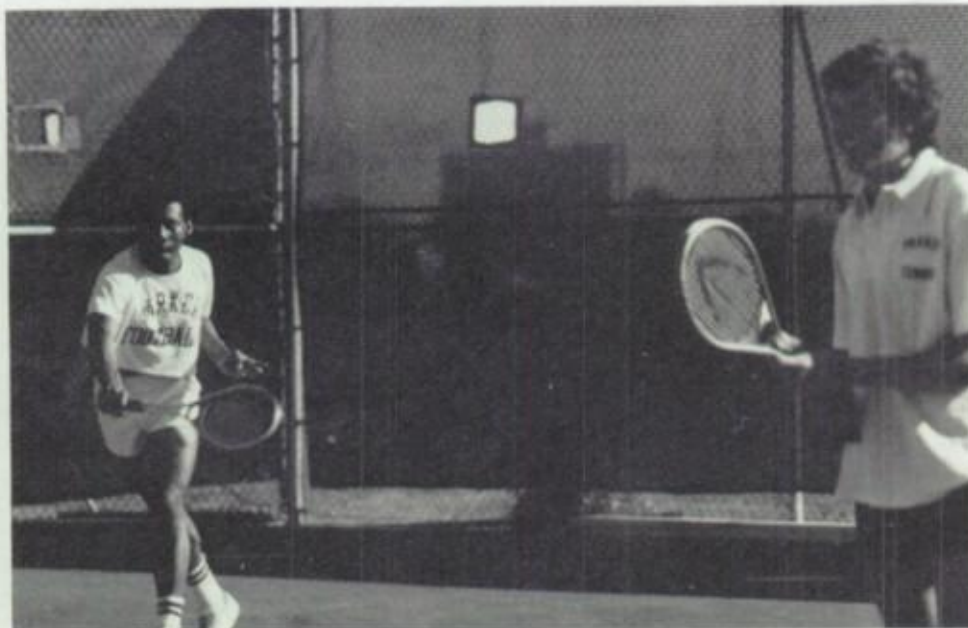

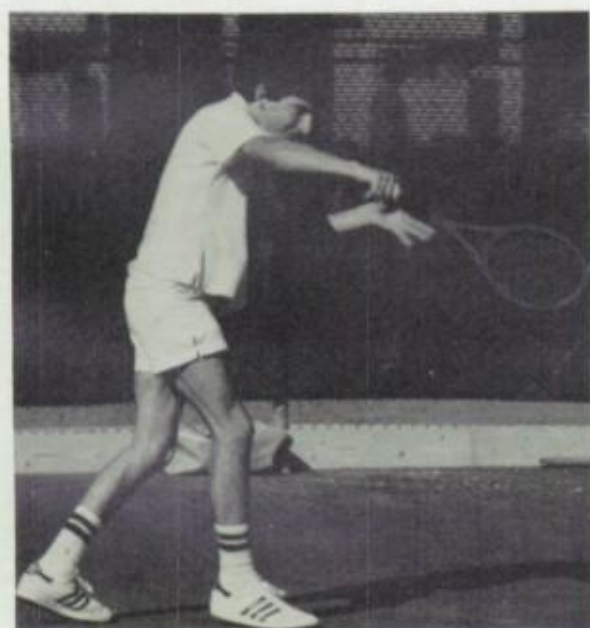

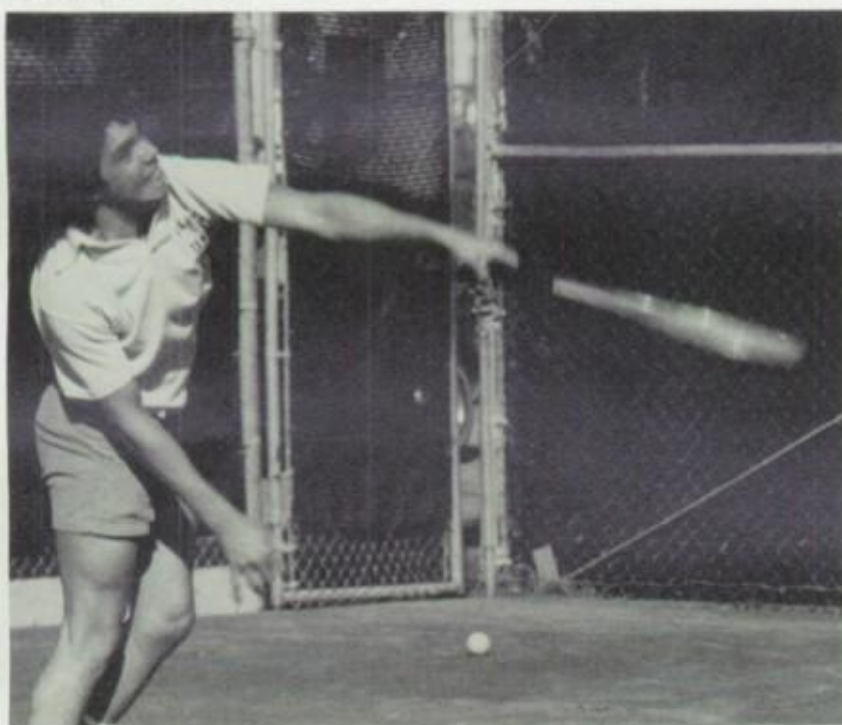

Returning players were Tom Gildred, Randy Laser, Suzanne Davies, Marc Wolfsheimer, Keith Sampson, Don Brandon, Ted Tchang, Anne Pavel, and Caroline Anderson.

Additions to the squad were Todd Khoury, Kathy Blue, Jenny Rush, Anna Palmer, Dena Murray, and Rob Palmer.

Girl Cagers Say 'Win!'

Although the girls' basketball season had barely begun at press time, they were already sweating it out on the court. The team appeared to be extremely strong for such a new one.

Returning were seniors Leigh Ann Layton and Maile Knudsen; juniors Sherri McKinnon, Colleen Grubb and Kate Seiber; and sophomore Elizabeth Reid. New additions included Laura Mumby, Jennifer Jenkins and Sandy Iverson.

The varsity team faced a challenging 18 game season. Also, Parker was planning its first Francis Parker Invitational Tournament for girls' basketball. The team would also compete in the Madison Invitational against many of San Diego's top ranked teams.

Coach Helscher was optimistic about the season ahead and summed it up: "C-I-F Championship!" The players were thinking along the same lines. . . .

JV Squad Springboard For Varsity

The main goal of the junior varsity girls' basketball team was to have "fun and gain experience," according to first year Coach Ed Helscher.

Along with varsity, the JV girls were working hard on the basketball court, for their upcoming season. At press time, Coach Helscher planned to use the JV as a spring board for the varsity.

Janet Hughes appeared to be the catalyst for the young team.

Pitching was the only challenge that the Lancer baseballers faced at press time in aiming for a successful season. The only returning varsity pitcher was righthander Dan Sulzer who headed the bullpen.

Despite the pitching problem, hope was seen in the great number of let-termen returning. They included Bill Helwig, George Smith, Craig Irving, Ted Davis, Gabe Zatarain, Richard Marsch and Mark Clifton.

No JV squad was formed in order to allow the varsity to use the field more often.

Assisting Coach Glassey was Steve Sourapas, former Parker athletic star.

The rainiest season in San Diego, since the 1940's, resulted in a slow start for the baseball season. CAVALCADE photographers took pictures during a drizzle in order to make the yearbook deadline. Girls Compete In Playoffs

The girls' softball team, for the second year in a row, went to the CIF Class 1A playoffs.

Having an 11-5 league record at the end of the season, the Lancers were tied with Victory Christian for second place, losing to VC in the semi-finals.

The team was a young one, having many freshmen and sophomores. The team was led by the all-around performances of Suzanne Davies, Sandy Iverson, Leigh Ann Layton, and Sherri McKinnon.

Coach Strange was pleased with this year's results and looked forward to an even stronger finish next season.

Pitcher Sandy Iverson took the Most Valuable Player award; Sabra Lewis, the Most Improved; and Sherri McKinnon, Most Inspirational. Team captains were Leigh Ann Layton and Maile Knudsen.

Leasure, Allison Pay, and Mike Fitzsimmons.

7-8 Soccer Scores Big

Teamwork was the key to the strong finish by the 7-8 soccer team. An important factor was the arrival of Coach Thomas Hattori, who led them to a 5-3-1 season. All 24 members of the junior high team, improving their skills greatly, gained helpful experience and a great time.

Providing strong support from the forward line were David Stephens, John Collins, Chad Vosskuhler and Jeff Jacquet.

Starting at the halfback slots were Eric Subin and J.P. Leasure giving constant aid to the forwards. Assisting the goalies, Jeff Heikkila and James Orwig, were regular fullbacks: Lauren Young, Christine Gleason, Mike Fitzsimmons and Karen Holl. These and other alternates combined to forge the winning team.

The 7-8 squad went up against such schools as Army-Navy, La Jolla Country Day, Bishops, All Hallows, and even scrimmaged against the Parker varsity.

Cagers Cap '80 With Victory

"Our six and five record can be characterized by a winning spirit, constant desire, inconsistent play, steady improvement and stronger opponents!" Coach Larry Lipman said of the 7-8 basketball season. "After our Olympic-type inspiring win over Army-Navy in our final game, our players were jubilant and wishing for a longer season."

Rindal and Nostrand had the "hot-test hands," leading all scorers. White and Goodwin showed strength on the boards with rebounding efforts and pursuit.

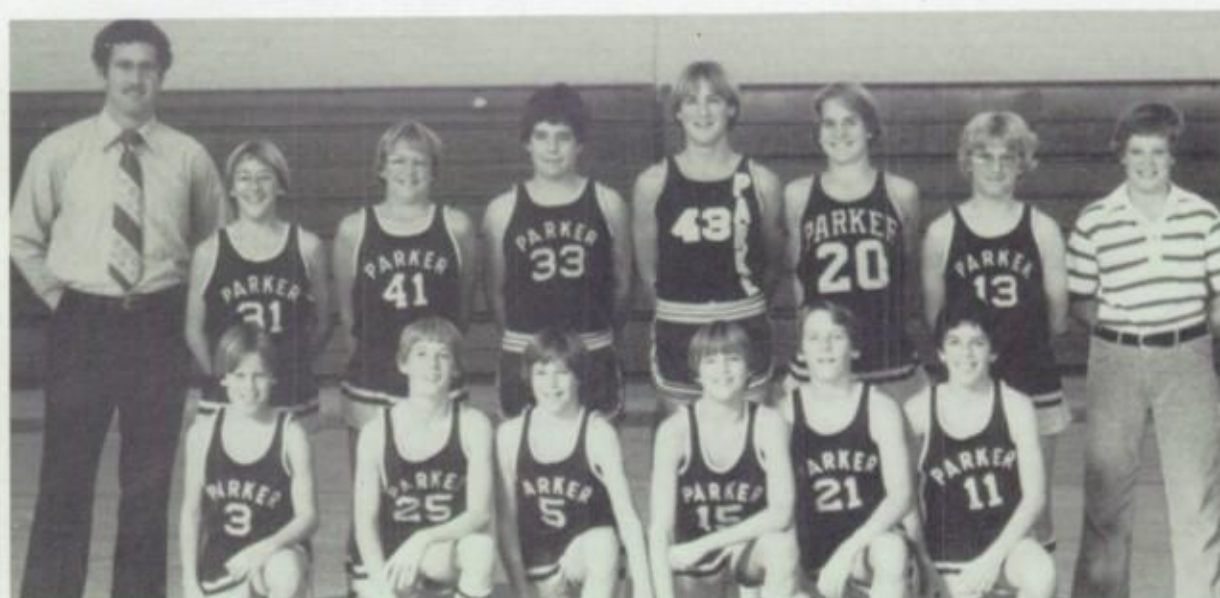

Russell, Weinress, Fulhorst and Sharts were aggressive and enthusiastic as defense. Thornborrow, Chapman, Gillis and Primeau showed the most improvement.

Hard-working managers Bear Evons and Michelle Brown gave constant support.

Coach Lipman summed up his squad, "This team has a right to be proud; they earned it."

Track Jumps Into Spring

Girls outnumbered the boys on the 1980 track team. Returning thinclads were: Charles Williams, shotput; Steve Carey and Marc Wolfsheimer, distance running; Monica Childers and Pam Guiles, sprints and high jumps; Susan McKig, sprints; and Laura Russell, long jump and sprints.

New runners were Suzanne Katleman, Steve Penner, Jennifer Ray, Elizabeth Wingfield and Stewart Bieler.

Tom Hattori started his first season as track coach joining Mrs. Fran Styles.

At press time Parker planned to compete with Santa Fe Christian, Victory Christian, Mt. Empire, Army-Navy Academy, and La Jolla Country Day.

Karate Moves To Old Town

The Karate Club, which started at Parker two years ago, has grown into an active group of three dozen students, staff, parents and alumni. Now called the San Diego Academy of Karate, the members practice three times a week in Old Town.

Instructor Jerry Devine includes Zen philosophy and history of Japanese culture in his classes.

Extra events include films, tea ceremonies, public demonstrations, and tournaments.

Faculty/Administration

Parker Board

Parker's Board of Directors had a busy year. With the completion of the new classrooms and locker room, the Board immediately began working on plans for a Fine and Performing Arts Center.

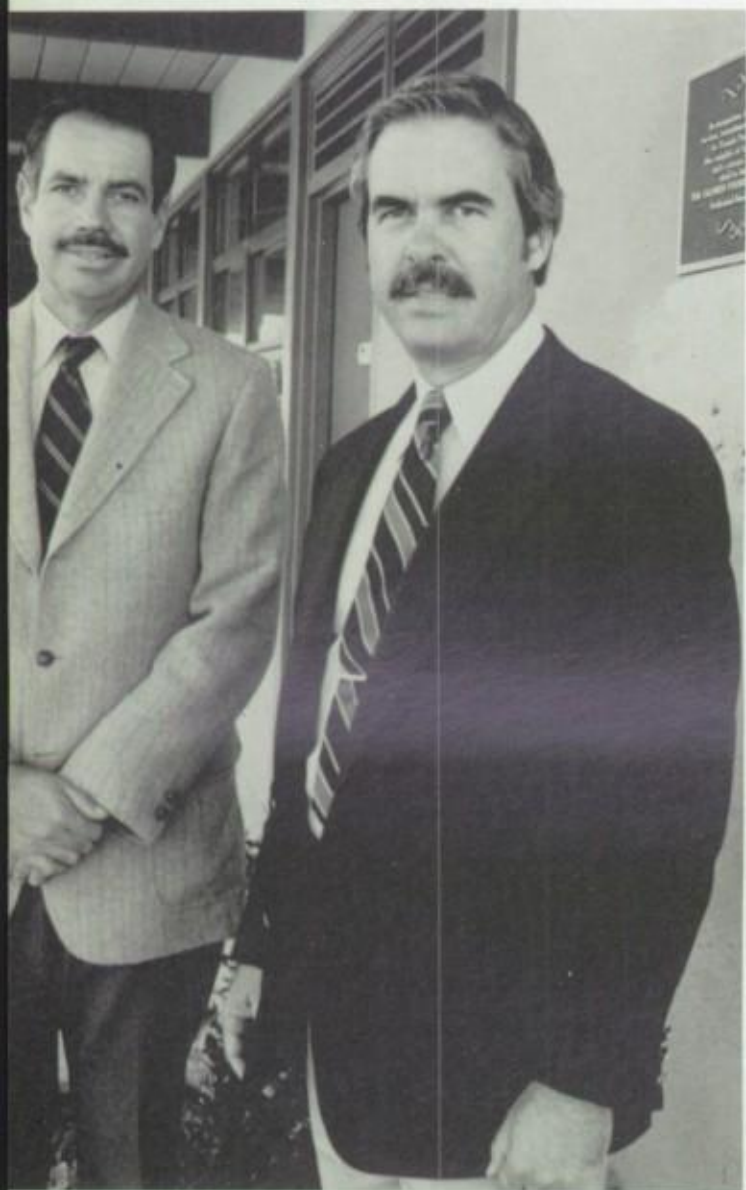

A committee of parents, faculty and others with previous experience in theater design and productions was chosen to assist in the details involved in this second phase of Parker's expansion.

Additional athletic facilities were being considered for the future.

At press time, a fund raising drive was in full swing. A major element of the campaign was the work of Diana Midlam and Bob Westlund in the Development Office.

Headmaster Evaluates Graduating Class

The Parker Senior Class of 1980 approached the "college choice" decision making process with much anxiety and uncertainty. They selected various methods to cope with this problem. Some tried to ignore it (and worried most about the Juniors taking Senior parking spaces) and claim they preferred working a year before deciding on college life, others selected one "sure thing," usually a college here in San Diego so that the change after high school would be relatively easy, and for some the "shotgun" approach was used by applying to fifteen colleges or universities hoping that at least one would accept them.

More and more today's high school seniors are faced with the perplexing question of "What am I to be?" As parents and as counselors we have to guard against our insisting that the answer to this "life long" question must be clearly established when a person reaches his eighteenth year.

Answers will come with many experiences, some from the formal confines of a liberal arts collegiate exposure, some from the informal survival hours in a college dormitory, and others from the world of work, travel, etc. Nevertheless, the answer will be forthcoming!

Robert Frost was speaking of this quandry when he wrote:

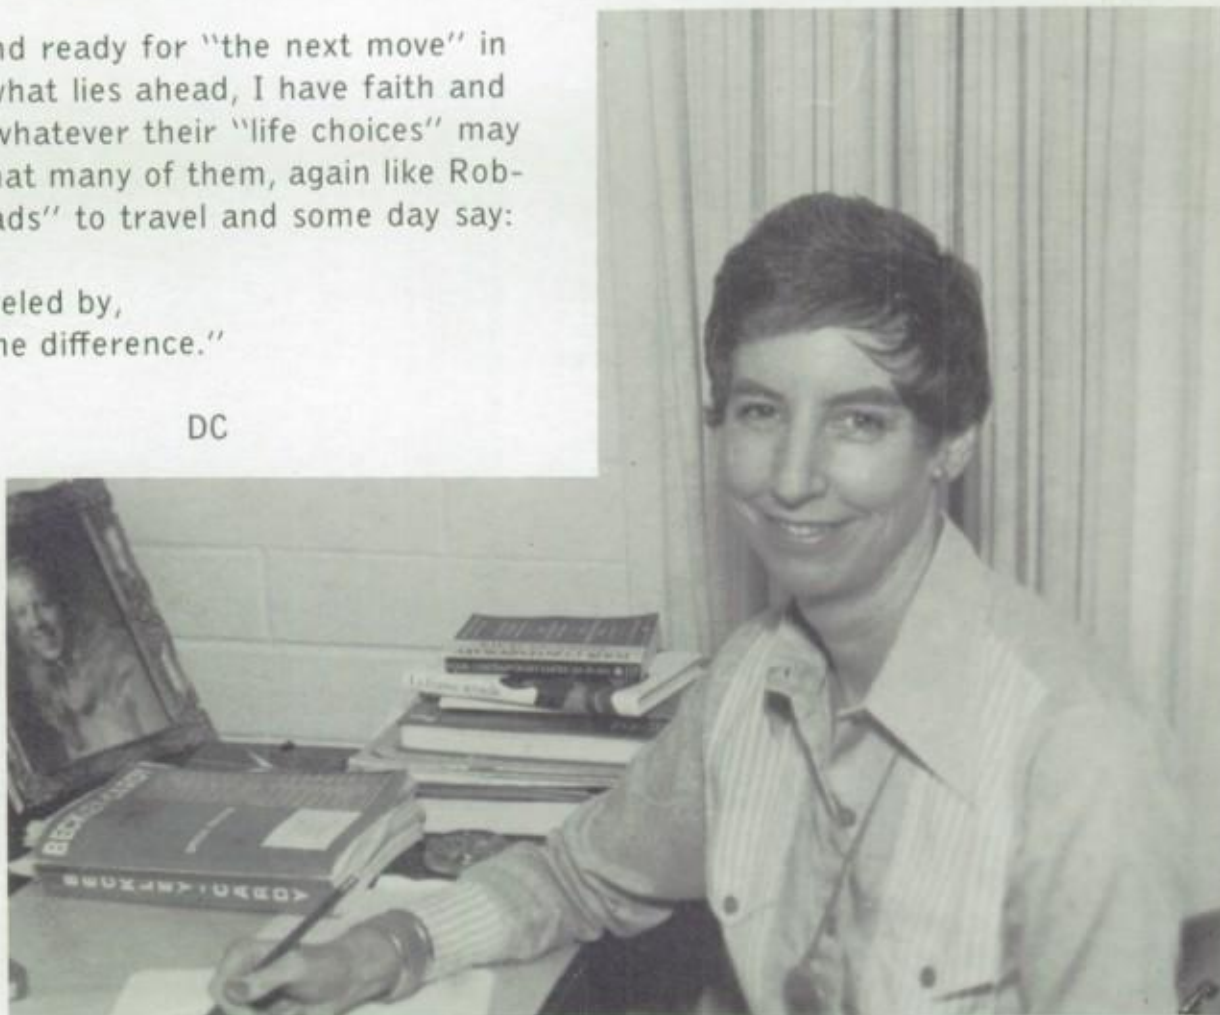

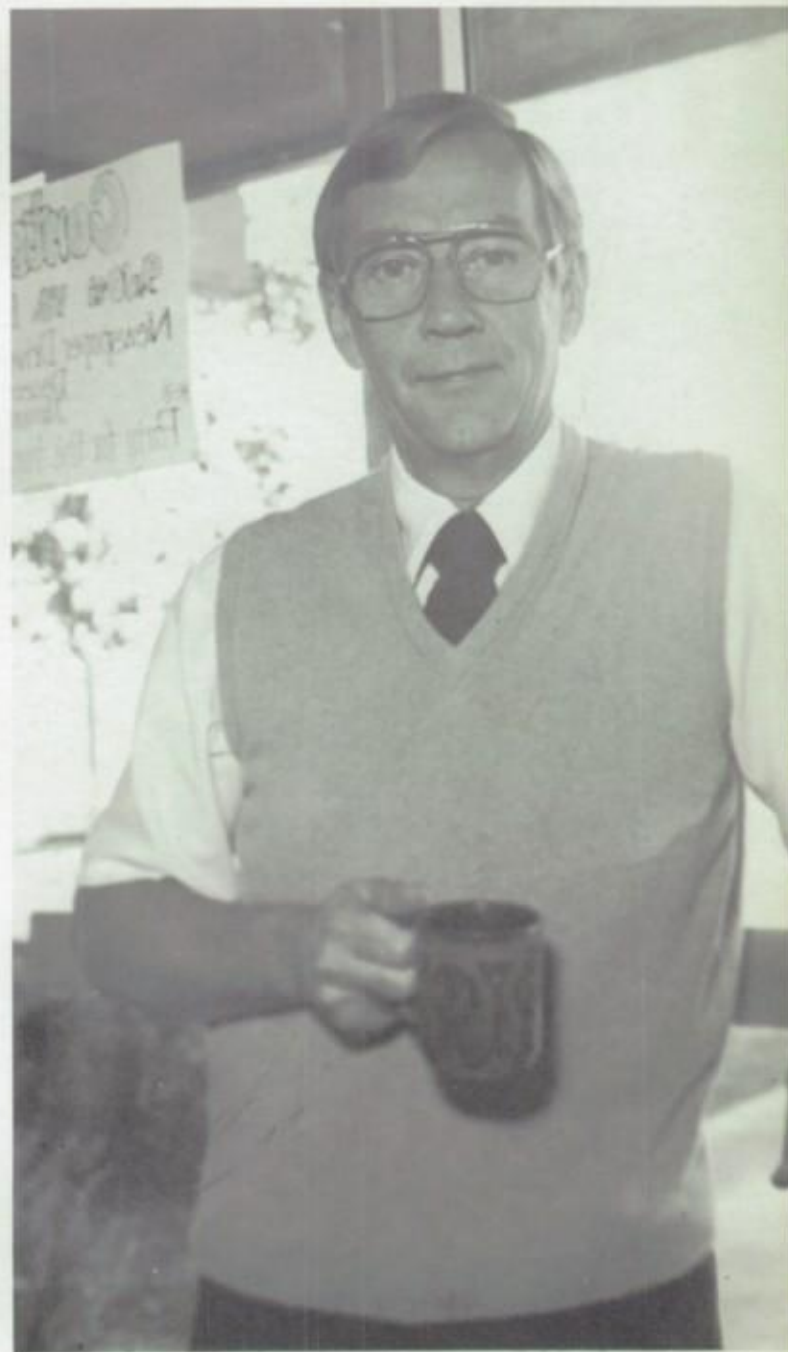

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could—
To where it bent in the undergrowth.
Robert Frost, "The Road Not Taken"

As the Class of 1980 stands poised and ready for "the next move" in education, straining to see, like Frost, what lies ahead, I have faith and confidence in their ultimate success in whatever their "life choices" may be. I would even gamble by predicting that many of them, again like Robert Frost, will contemplate the "two roads" to travel and some day say:

"I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference."

Key Leaders Make It Work

Dr. Douglas C. Crone, Headmaster, and Mrs. George Smith, Administrative Assistant, head Parker's administration. They are assisted by Patricia Barrett, Senior High Girls' League Adviser and Dean of Girls; Ron Bennett, Director of Junior High School and Dean of Boys; and Ray Volker, Director of Athletics and ASB Adviser.

These people are responsible to the students, the parents, the faculty, and the Board of Directors. They maintain a smooth running atmosphere in which to learn.

Not only do they perform their administrative duties, but they also act as friends and personal advisers to Parker's students.

Patient People Serve Parker

Mrs. Helwig and Mrs. Rogers keep the school afloat by answering busy phones and handling enumerable student problems. While keeping student records and tending bruised knees and egos, their patience never fails.

Parker's bus drivers are patient, too, with the high spirited kids that they transport. They are to be commended for putting up with general noise, candy wrappers in the seats and fights over radio stations.

The janitors faithfully clean rooms, especially the journalism room after paste-ups and the science lab after experiments.

The cafeteria crew manages to smile not only at dieters who order "salad only," but also at those growing boys who try to snatch extra desserts.

Faculty Emphasizes 'True Learning'

The quality of one's education rests squarely on the student-teacher relationship. Intellectual growth requires a similar commitment from both, a conviction that scholarship is an active rather than a passive endeavor. Here, the teacher's role is crucial. The following passage, which was taken from a symposium honoring a retired Oxford University professor, extolls this ideal—an ideal shared by Parker's faculty.

"For me he was the ideal tutor. His mode of teaching was individual. He was not voluble and authoritative, he did not impose himself . . . By his comments on my essay, by his quotations, by the casual asides of his talk, he revealed the extent of his knowledge and his high standard of accuracy . . .

I did come to realize what true learning meant. I have not lost this realization."

Seniors

Seniors Thrive On Good Vibes

Good vibes prevailed at the first senior meeting, in spite of President Craig Irving's opening remark, "We're in the hole $1.04." It would take more than that to get the seniors down. They worked together to get several fund-raising projects and social functions off the ground: bake sales, a huge rummage sale, the first Senior Class-Student Council dance and class t-shirts.

The underclassmen undoubtedly learned quite a bit from the class of '80. During Spirit Week, Steve, Craig, Jeff and Ken taught them the true meaning of the word "masculinity." Bill showed them how to be "cool in a cast," and Cary, Liz and Leigh Ann set the prime example of maturity with their squirt gun antics.

The optimism and good vibes of this class continued throughout the year until graduation—even though the ceremony was held on Friday the 13th.

Seniors Speak Out On Sports

A surfer usually picks a surfing spot that he likes the best and that suits his style of surfing. This makes him want to protect it from getting too crowded. If a person can't surf well, then he is more apt to suffer from localism because he will be harassed even to the point of being beat up. That way a group of good surfers can protect their surf spot from "goons" that try to surf it.

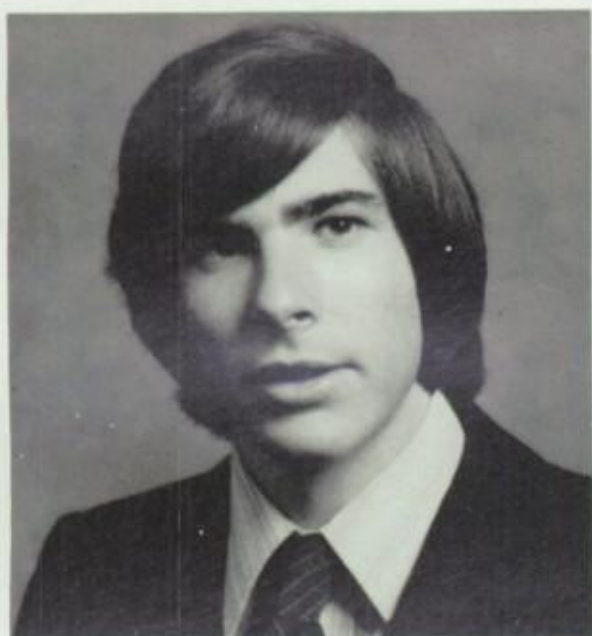

Localism will always be a part of surfing that some people like and others hate. But if it keeps the El Cajoners away it is well worth it!—Craig Irving

Becoming one with the ocean is such a natural sport, many people wish they could surf.—Steve Carey

Volleyball is a sport, which not only requires skill, but also requires game knowledge, more commonly known as "strategy."

I was fortunate enough to learn "volleyball strategy" at a young age. When I went out for the sport in my sophomore year, I believed that the game consisted only of "passing, setting, and hitting." Boy, was I wrong.—Pam Guiles

I've always cared for some sports more than others, but one in particular I like is a new one, roller-skating.—Mary Wagstaff

Seniors Speak Out On Music

At present my favorite music to listen to is the new wave punk rock.

I like David Bowie, Blondie, the Ramones, the list goes on and on. However, I still enjoy listening to all kinds of music: classical, jazz, flamenco, hard rock, and so on. If there were no music the world would be a terrible place.—
Laura Crawford

To me, besides some special people, music is the most important thing in my life . . . I see music as a necessity and can't imagine life without it.—Lewis Morgenstern

Today, music is a part of everyone. Whether it's reflecting on the past, or listening to today's sound, there is something for everybody to enjoy.—Lori Roberts

My record collection is very erratic. I enjoy mellow Manilow, as well as zany Zepplin.—Leslie Pearce

Led Zepplin has been a powerful rock group for over a decade. They have influenced thousands of people. Their concerts sell out in only a few hours. Their albums turn from gold to platinum before your very eyes, and they are idolized by young upcoming musicians.—Tony Williams

Seniors Speak Out On San Diego

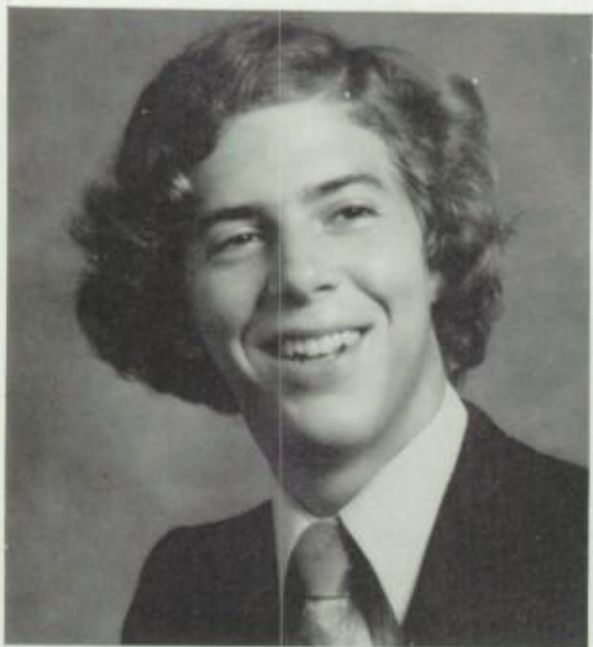

San Diego is California's best kept secret.—Randy Laser

The hard workers and the people that care about this city give it its quality.—Caroline Anderson

The people out here are much more casual than Easterners. I have found people to be friendly here also. The activities that people engage in are different, such as surfing, water skiing, and going to the beach.—Anne Mayes

You can run through beautiful Balboa Park without the fear of being mugged.—Debbie Aylott

Perhaps the thing that I enjoy most about living in San Diego, is the feeling of excitement that I get from being here. This feeling of activity and motion is truly unique to San Diego, and I found that I missed it considerably during the years that I lived in St. Louis.—Liz Woodle

Underclassmen

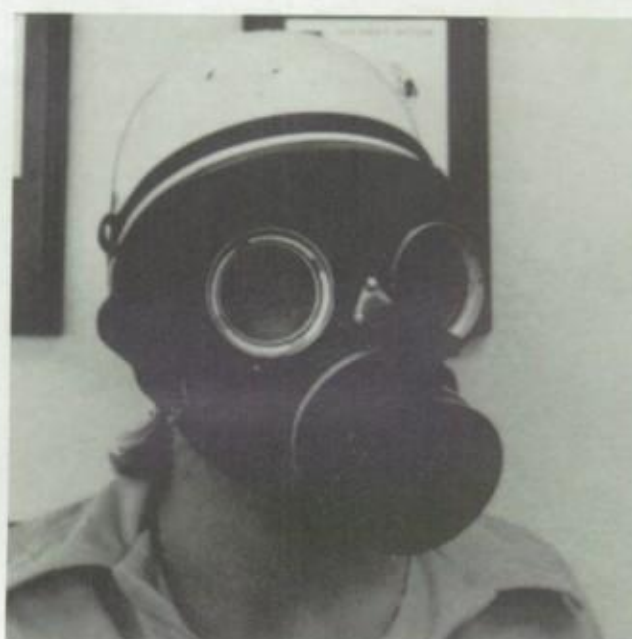

Class of '81 Has Variety

Great variety was found in the class of '81. The junior class was composed of actors, actresses, athletes, new—and sometimes reckless drivers (Ted Davis and Scott Maches), and would-be musicians ("Mystique").

Going to college reps and mooching senior privileges made them feel like real upperclassmen. With all of this practice, they will be quite well prepared for their upcoming role as seniors.

Sophomores: Rowdy Bunch

The 10th grade was certainly a rowdy bunch. Their antics contributed much to the flavor of the school.

Tom Gildred and Joel Smith added a new touch to the flagpole by raising a stuffed animal up the mast.

The sophomores livened up their classes by "hamming it up," while reading Shakespeare and playing with balloons during chemistry.

9th Graders Not Inhibited

The 9th graders were not the least bit inhibited by their new role as freshmen. They backed the high school dances with enthusiasm, and bravely faced the challenges of their new classes.

Mr. Johnson had them surviving in the "jungle" with knives, forks, and spoons, in place of hands.

Not all of their classes were that difficult. In algebra, for instance, they took yawning lessons, read the chow report and worked on fun sheets. Homo Erectus, (Mr. Helscher) and Lucky Bucks, were interesting history topics as well.

8th Graders Show Spirit

This year saw a great metamorphosis in the character of the class of '84. Those once timid 7th graders became one of Parker's most spirited classes.

Eighth graders gave their full support to games nights, along with "Hips" Helscher. Being kiddies one day and flower children the next during spirit Week, was easy for this group.

Eighth graders did, however, tend to drag their feet while Mr. Bennett was sweating off those pounds and inches, trying to teach them to grow up—Whatever!

7th Face Challenges

As 7th graders, the class of '85 found that the Upper School campus presented them with many new situations.

The muddy football field was particularly challenging for Rocky Heron, who slipped while playing soccer. Staying awake through classes after weekend concerts was difficult for some students. (Remember English, David Stephens?)

Mr. Ghironi's science class provided them with the new and not entirely pleasant experience of dissecting frogs. A bit more enjoyable was the singing telegram that Darcy Rhodes received on her birthday.

Steve,
 You're a nice person and I'm really glad that I met you. You're really the only boy (besides Harry) who really can be good friends. You're lucky you're not going to this school, but wherever you do keep sweet and don't forget me "K"?

Love Always,
 Dolinda
 and forever

(May be we'll see each other in the summer!) 1980

Steve,
 you didn't sign it this way,
 so could you sign it like this?
 I'm glad you are a good friend. I met you at the summer. (Amie) Love a Bye, Rosalind

Steve,
It's been really great knowing you. Remember that time at the tennis courts after school during the baseball game? I'll have to come and see some of your football games and watch you kick some butts. We will definitely get a big party goin this summer somewhere. Keep partying and I'll see you later.

Steve,
This year has been a lot of fun. Your anice guy. I wish that we will keep our friendship forever.
You have some special qualities which make you a perfect boy. J.R.
Please don't be jealousy will get me no where.
But I will keep in touch with me (228-9108) moving in Aug. and Aug. cause I'm changing. Take care of my # will and be careful of your self.
Love
Sandy

Steve,

I'm really glad we got together this year. I've had a great time. There have been some bad times but we've worked them out. The good times were great and I'm sure they are going to get even better. (Right!! Ha! Ha!) We have to go to the beach before I leave on my trip! I really like you a lot and don't ever think I'm off with any surfer boy, cause you are the guy I want! So don't ever doubt it
OK! Save lots of time for me this summer and don't change, and while I'm gone I'll be thinking of you (hopefully not about how you might be with a Mexican chick) just kidding!!

P.S.
Patty
Hardy!!

Love forever and ever! Jennifer

Steve,

School would have been unbearable dead without you and your stories, and everything else. We'll have to get together sometime with your homeboys & homegirls and party. Keep in touch, my number is in the book, but just in case (579-6470) Take care & don't get anybody pregnant, and most of all, don't get into any trouble (the kind you go to jail for)

Later

Harry

Steve!
I'm telling a surfer
I
love
you
great love

Steve,

I'm really glad that we have become friends, And I'm glad that even though we've had problems, we've always been able to work them out. You're a really great friend and I hope that we can always be friends. Don't forget me if you go to Bonita. I certainly won't forget you! I hope I can see you this summer. Let's get together for sure and party. Remember when I drank all that at your house before the dance? HA HA. Don't get too high this summer + Call me after July 20 or 25. 459-8371. Take it easy Steve.

P.S. Tell Carol Love,
I said hi. Love,
Steve

Steve,
You're a really nice guy. I am glad we got to become good friends. Have a terrific summer.

- Kris J.

Steve - You've really become a big part of my life this year. I consider our friendship one of the Best. You've got such a great personality, not to mention your great looks!! By the way you still owe me that picture of you. Anyways, sorry to change the subject, but it just came to mind. We have to get together this summer - either sailing, jogging, or whatever. I really enjoy being around you Steve, I mean you're so sweet, funny + adorable! We can take more walks like that one before - besides I still owe you that thing! As soon as you get your license call me and we'll celebrate.

I also want to thank you for being there when I had a problem, like you know who. I don't feel embarrassed talking it out with you and you always give good advice. If you don't come back next year I don't know what I'll do, Steve! If you don't, promise me we'll keep in touch and visit me whenever you want!

Like I said before you've really become a big part of my life. It's going to be so hard saying goodbye on Thursday, so that just means we'll have to visit over the summer - I mean God, I can see your house from my window -- we're not that far apart!!!

Best of luck, where ever you go to school next year; and in the years to come. Keep good care of yourself and don't stop lifting! By the end of the summer you'll be 5000 big! ~~big~~ (muscular I mean!) "Strive for the best and you'll get it."

Love Always Steve,

P.S. PLEASE
let me know when Jennifer leaves on her trip!!

Janet
